(Gadsby #392)

Words by Anne Steele, 1760

Music by Robert Turner, 2009

[VERSE 1]

F#m E
How oft alas this wretched heart
 A E
Has wandered from the Lord
F#m E
How oft my roving thoughts depart
 A D A E
Forgetful of his word

D A E
Almighty grace thy healing power
 F#m D A E
How glorious how divine
D A E
That can to life and bliss restore
 F#m E A
So vile a heart as mine

[VERSE 2]

F#m E
Yet sovereign mercy calls Return
 A D A E
Dear Lord and may I come
F#m E
My vile ingratitude I mourn
 A D A E
O take this wanderer home

D A E
And canst thou wilt thou yet forgive
 F#m D A E
And bid my crimes remove
D A E
And shall a pardoned rebel live
 F#m E A
To speak thy wondrous love

D A E
Thy pardoning love so free so sweet
 F#m E A
Dear Saviour we adore
 F#m E A
Dear Saviour, you we adore (repeat)
